Kibale National Park

Your Ugandan safari starts here and now. With all of the incredible wildlife that this country has to offer, we know that you're keen to get started. And as soon as we introduce you to your guide and answer your questions, we'll get you out there exploring.

Welcome to Kibale National Park, one of Uganda's most extensive and atmospheric protected rainforests. The forest interior here is rattling with wildlife, most notably a habituated community of chimpanzees, but also a wide variety of monkeys and colorful birds, and a small but elusive elephant population. Ask your guide to show you some of the many forest-fringed crater lakes that further enhance the scenic beauty of the national park and its environs.

Chimpanzee Forest Lodge

Guest house | Just outside Kibale National Park

Our base at Kibale National Park, Chimpanzee Forest Lodge has a colonial feel that betrays its origin as a tea estate manager’s house built in 1959. The forest-edge setting means that plenty of monkeys and birds pass through the flowering gardens, but there are also superb views over the surrounding tea plantations and Lake Nyabikere.

Bwindi Impenetrable National Park

Supporting almost half the world's mountain gorillas, Bwindi Impenetrable National Park is arguably the best place anywhere in the world to track these charismatic gentle giants through their misty forest home. But there is far more to this Unesco World Heritage Site than just gorillas. The lush forest interior is also home to a diversity of other mammals, ranging from L'Hoest's monkey and chimpanzee to elephant and the yellow-backed duiker. A total of 350 bird species, 23 of which are unique to the Albertine Rift Valley, ensure that Bwindi ranks among East Africa's most rewarding bird-watching destinations.

Day 3, Queen Elizabeth National Park

You head to Queen Elizabeth National Park, probably the best place in Uganda to see lions. The park's lakes and other wetlands support plenty of elephants, buffaloes, hippos and waterbirds, while the snowcapped Rwenzori peaks provide a majestic backdrop.

Activity Day 3

Morning

→ Transfer by Road, Kibale National Park via Queen Elizabeth National Park to Bwindi Impenetrable National Park
